

Important notice

- 1) The information appearing in this web site is believed to be accurate.
- 2) Publisher reserves the right to change production or alter specification at any time without notice.
- 3) Reader is cautioned to verify the information in this web site on there own design.
- 4) Products described herein are intended for use in normal commercial applications. Other applications involving unusual environmental or reliability requirements, e.g. military product or medical life-support equipment are specifically not recommended. Please also note that the application circuits illustrated in this publication are for reference purpose only.